

INFLAMMATORY CONDITIONS OF THE GU TRACT

(PROSTATITIS, INTERSTITIAL CYSTITIS)

GENERAL OBJECTIVES (PGY 1, 2, AND 5)

MEDICAL EXPERT

Basic Science Knowledge To be able to describe the epidemiology and histopathology of prostatitis, both bacterial and non-bacterial
Able to describe the epidemiology and histopathology of interstitial cystitis and urethral syndrome
Able to describe and classify the microbiologic and non-microbiologic causes of prostatitis
Able to describe and outline the etiologic theories of interstitial cystitis

Clinical Knowledge To be able to describe and recognize the symptoms and signs of prostatitis
Able to outline the symptoms and signs of interstitial cystitis
To be able to describe the different investigations that may be required to diagnose a patient prostatitis (culture, cytology, urodynamics, endoscopy, biopsy)
Able to describe the methods of diagnosis for the patient with symptoms of interstitial cystitis
Able to outline the common treatment options for patients with prostatitis
Able to outline the various treatment options for patients with interstitial cystitis

Recognition and Management of Emergencies Able to diagnose and appropriately treat the patient with acute prostatitis
